

INTEGRATED SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT – LLP

Coordinating, planning, and scheduling the movement of goods while satisfying the needs of multiple stakeholders

Server manufacturers and enterprise computing companies must provide high levels of service, often with contractual obligations for order fulfilment and operational execution. They also need to ensure a sustainable cost to serve.

TYPICAL BUSINESS CHALLENGES

- Achieving visibility & management control
- Managing suppliers; tracking performance
- Optimizing inventory deployment
- Identifying cost-saving opportunities
- Driving continuous improvement

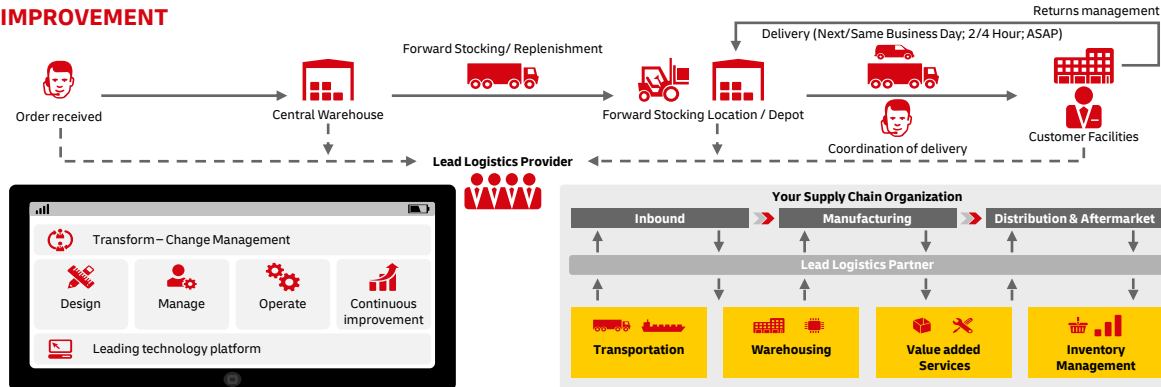

DHL SOLUTION

As the lead logistics provider (LLP), DHL delivers end-to-end, integrated supply chain management for multiple stakeholders via a global or regional control tower. Decision making is centralized and standardized across every location, with shipment visibility data available in near real time.

SOLVING YOUR BUSINESS CHALLENGES

- ✓ Achieving visibility & management control – Order execution excellence for inbound, manufacturing, and distribution; visibility and control at global, regional, country, and site level
- ✓ Managing suppliers; tracking performance – Multiple sourcing; supplier scheduling and fulfillment; identifying and assessing key performance indicators (KPIs); reporting and analysis
- ✓ Optimizing inventory deployment – Meet challenging customer demands; strategic positioning of sufficient stock near points of consumption
- ✓ Identifying cost-saving opportunities – Holistic perspective; improve efficiency and reduce costs in transportation, warehousing, value-added services, and inventory management
- ✓ Driving continuous improvement – Logistics value chain enhancements; multiple cost efficiencies; data-driven analytics; network optimization
